

Greetings All

Our photo contest is on schedule and you can start thinking of your favorite spots to take that winning shot.

Unfortunately, the weather for Saturday looks a bit iffy. Although it shows the sun being out for some of the day. Remember poor weather often creates some very beautiful scenes.

So rather than making it a guessing game about the weather, we (the contest planning committee) have decided to extend it through Sunday.

We still will be having our Open House Meet & Greet at the Cable Wayside & Landing about a mile south of Cable on Hwy 63. This is a WisDOT facility, so it is open for our use.

Stop by for a little fun, photo tips, meet & greet, fly tying by Frank Pratt, and have a cup of warm cider. 11:00 to 1:00.

The Weather forecasts seem to be turning in our favor.

Remember also that we are encouraging moms and dads and grandmas and grandpas to take their kids and grandkids on photo safari along the river, or anywhere in the watershed. Take some great photos that tell the story of the Namekagon.

All photographers entered will be eligible for a drawing of a pass on my Down To Earth Educational Tours. So enter your best shot! You can enter five photos.

Hope to see you Saturday or Sunday!
